Dear Mr. Garrett,

I intended to call upon you today, but my doctor did not allow me to go to the Hague. You probably don't know that I have been ill for some time and that I did not go to the Hague since abt a fortnight ago, but I have resumed my work over.

As soon as I can I hope to come and see you; will you kindly convey my best compliments to Mrs Garrett, whose kindness to me I appreciate so much. Please remember the photo of "the man who broke the blockade". With my kind regards

Yours sincerely

H Rowland Hall

THE HAGUE, February 27th 1920

Dear Mr. Garret,

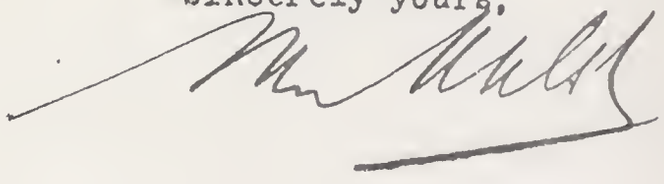
I have much pleasure in sending you herewith a medal which has been made in remembrance of the Netherlands Oversea Trust Company, which is now being wound up.

In view of the friendly relations which have existed between yourself and our Trust and the interest you have kindly taken in our work during the period that you were Minister in the Hague, I venture to expect that this little souvenir may be agreeable to you.

I am,

dear Mr. Garret,

sincerely yours,



To

Dear Mr. van Aalst:

I have just received your courteous note of February twenty-seventh, and the very beautiful medal, struck to commemorate the work of the N. O. T.

Difficult as the situations some times were, I look back with nothing but pleasure on the association I had with the Trust, and particularly with yourself during those two strenuous years at the Hague.

I beg you to accept my warmest thanks and best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. van Aalst,
